

Dr. Stephanie Carretero

Dr. Stephanie Carretero, PhD in Psychology at the University of Valencia, is Juan de la Cierva Postdoctoral researcher at Polibienestar Research Institute of the University of Valencia and currently in a postdoctoral stay at the Institute of Health and Society at the Université Catholique de Louvain (Belgium). She has a large experience in the research in social innovation for ageing and promotion of personal autonomy, focusing in the fields of informal care and long term care, healthy and active ageing, social tourism for all and disability.

She has participated in 64 research projects and contracts at local, national and international level. At European level, she has participated in projects of the Ambient Assisted Living programme, with the projects AMICA (AAL-2008-1-176) and HOST (AAL-2010-3-041), the 6th Framework programme with the project LIVINGALL (FP6-2005-SSP-5<sup>a</sup>-044359), the 7th Framework with the project INTERLINKS (FP7-2008-HEALTH-223037.) and Daphne III Programmes, with the projects Friends Online(LS/2008/DAP3/AG/1275-30C) and Be Supportive (JUST/2010/DAP3/AG/1059-30), among others.

She has published in books (Nova Science Publisher) and journals of high impact factor (Archives of Gerontology and Geriatrics, international Journal of Geriatric Psychiatry, etc.). During her career, she has developed post-doctoral stays in prestigious universities (Harvard University, University of Michigan, London School of Economics and Political Science) and has been invited to participate in international committees like the evaluation committee of FP7 projects in Health by the European Commission.

Title: Doctor

Position: Juan de la Cierva Programme Post doctoral researcher at Polibienestar (University of Valencia)