

Curriculum Vitae

Markus Habetha-Eisenbarth was born in Augsburg, Germany.

After finishing his studies in medicine at the University of Cologne in 1998, he was working as an assistant doctor in the Surgical Department at the Marienhospital in Aachen until 2000. In 2000 he joined a Master Course in Medical Informatics at the University of Heidelberg and completed with his Master of Science Degree in 2002.

From 2002 to 2006 Habetha-Eisenbarth was working for iSOFT Germany as a consultant in the implementation of Hospital Information Systems (HIS) with the emphasis on process optimisation of operation theater management and clinical documentation in anaesthesia.

From 2007 to 2010 he was working as a Project Manager in fields of Health Care Information Technology and was responsible for Rollout Management (Intercomponent Ware, Walldorf, Germany) and Product Management (b+m Informatik, Kiel, Germany) of complex accounting and resource planning software for medical purposes.

Since 2010 Habetha-Eisenbarth is been working for the Asklepios eHealth GmbH as a Project Manager to develop and implement eHealth Services to reach new customers and markets.